

ANGELS SING AND DEVILS DANCE ALONG

A devil cried because his loved one had left him. An angel heard him and wanted to express his deepest sympathies. But the devil felt ashamed and wanted to hide. In the very moment, when their eyes met, they felt the lovesickness of each other. The devil pulled out his old and dirty handkerchief to share it with the angel in this cold and heartless world. And so they dried each other's tears.

In heaven as in hell everyone watched the scene and was horrified. Thereupon everyone got hopping mad, because they felt betrayed by the couple. In their fury, they attacked each other. All of the sudden all the voices became silent and the angels blushed, because the devils touched what was laying in their arms and surrendered, facing the grace of the creatures of heaven. After all the fight became a passionate love affair. Since that day, the angels dance in love with the devils, hand in hand, to the same rhythm and the same song.