

STRONG MEN

Some say, they have heard a sweet and fine voice echoing from the hill, which was told to have seduced their minds.

Some say, it is a curse building up an illusion that leads the men into confusion.

Strong men had followed that voice and became prisoners of their desire.

They never found their way back home, but got lost on their way to the strange choir.

The choir is doing magic to make you stay – until you follow it in devotion into the nowhere of emotion.