

THE GIANT

Once upon a time there was a giant – he was mean, cruel and greedy. He was just roaming around without a goal and scared and hurt so many souls. There was also a powerful witch living in this area. No one ever knew what she was thinking and that was the reason why she was said to have a cold heart. That made her really feel lonely. One night she planted a little rose in her garden, which grew to be a pretty and charming flower – with its sweet scent it enchanted the world. One day, the giant came along and stumbled across the rose. He saw the little beauty and snuffled at its bloom. It beamed at him with joy and was shining like a pearl for him. It drove away his gloom, so that the giant never wanted to go away from the flower again. He became sensitive and started weeping with sorrow and so truly. When he felt such weak, the witch showed up, took his hand and conjured away his sadness. She smiled at him and he kissed her on her cheek. They fell in love with each other and stayed together till they died.
